

On the Farm

Lesley Samsom

Be different: buy direct from tslbooks.uk

Down on the farm

Down on the farm
Just as the day was dawning,
The animals woke up
Very early in the morning.

The rooster woke up,
Crowed, 'Cock-a-doodle-do,
Come on everybody,
There's lots of things to do.'

The hens started laying
Their eggs in the straw;
The cows were being milked
In the milking stall.

The farm cats were wanting
Their saucer full of cream,
While all the ducks and geese
Waddled down to the stream.

The horses were all neighing,
The donkey said, 'Eey-ore,'
The pigs, they were all grunting,
'Oh, please give us more.'

The farmer and the sheepdog
Were herding all the sheep,
The new day had begun
And there was no time to sleep!

