

Archibald's aunt is not someone to be messed with.
Join her in taking on property developers and local councillors.

About the author

John McDermott was born in Liverpool in 1925 where he attended school till age 15 when he left to work for ICI.

After moving to Cheshire in 1951 he met and married Marjorie who gave him six wonderful children. John has always had an interest in literature, having been brought up in a house where Dickens, H.G. Wells and P.G. Wodehouse were borrowed regularly from the local library. He considers Wodehouse to be the greatest comic writer ever and that laughter is the best medicine. His own contribution to literature includes some short stories, murder mystery plays (published through his son's website) and one solitary novel.

He agrees with whoever said that laughter is the best medicine. On this subject, he thinks Wodehouse got it right when he remarked that 'an apple a day, providing it's well aimed, keeps the doctor away.'

Category: Fiction, Humour

ISBN: 978-1-913294-45-8
978-1-913294-73-1 (ebook)

Format:

Paperback and ebook – 1 Sep 2020
(190 pages)

Available at tslbooks.uk & through online retailers

Price: dependent on retailer –

Retail price: £14.93

TSL price: £10.74

Ebook price: £2.58

Book title: Archibald's Aunt

By: John McDermott

Archibald's Aunt

by John McDermott

For more information, editorial opportunities, interview requests or review copies please contact Anne by email tslbooks@outlook.com

<http://tslbooks.uk> @tslpub
facebook.com/TSLpublications