

REBELLING FOR LIFE

Emma Thompson

REBELLING FOR LIFE is a collection of poetry, short stories and other prose arising from one grandma's activism for climate and peace. "I couldn't be more proud of my sister's awesome art, activism, altruism and arrests." Dave Hampton, Carbon Coach

About Sue

Sue Hampton is the author of more than 30 titles for children, teenagers and adults; she likes exploring different genres and styles. Her writing has been praised by two of her literary heroes, Michael Morpurgo and Susan Fletcher, and many other authors too. An ex-teacher, she enjoys visiting schools to inspire young readers and writers, and along with her author husband Leslie Tate she has appeared at many festivals and addressed many adult writing groups. Sue is a trustee for the charity People not Borders.

"Sue Hampton is an inspirational direct action activist - and now, with this collection, you can read all about it through the vehicle of her poetry and prose. I find Sue's work moving in its simplicity and directness."

Dr Rupert Read, Associate Professor of Philosophy, UEA

"A stirring collection: compelling testaments from the writer's courageous activism."

Lola Perrin, composer

"A journey through climate grief and personal history, beautifully worded and powerfully reimagined to create a radical and transformative book."

April De Angelis, playwright
