Save our Burning World

Global warming (caused by adults) have caused primeval fire creatures to revive and there is a secret and losing struggle to defeat them by a secretive group called Gaia. As a last resort, Gaia have trained a team of youngsters (not all human) in the art of effective decision-making and have thrown them into the fray.

They have ten days to destroy the fire creatures. After this time there will be a tipping point and the creatures will multiply at such a rate, that they would become unbeatable.

If the creatures are not defeated and the rate of warming of the planet is not reduced – mankind's existence will come to an end.
