

British Military Chaplaincy
and
Religion in South Africa

1899-1902

Dahlia Harrison

A great deal has been written about chaplains who served in the Great War but sparse evidence has been found addressing the subject for the South African War of 1899-1902.

Using original material, this book adds a new dimension to the history of British military chaplaincy. It explores the role and work of the British military chaplain, highlighting their experiences. It places them in the context of British religious history and the history of the Royal Army Chaplains' Department.

About the authors

Dahlia Harrison is a retired local government officer who studied for an MA in History then a Masters in Theology in her spare time to enhance her interests in social and military history. She has been a researcher and medal collector for over 30 years. Dahlia is a member of the Victorian Military Society, Western Front Association, Honorary Treasurer of the Friends of the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers' Museum (Royal Warwickshire) and a member of the Orders and Medals Research Society (OMRS). Dahlia has given many years of her time to the Committee of the OMRS, both as Convention Organiser and subsequently General Secretary. She is temporarily acting as secretary of her local OMRS Branch and lives with her husband in Lincolnshire.

Category: History, Military, Religion

ISBN:
978-1-915660-05-3

Format:
Paperback – September 2022
(289 pages)

Available at tslbooks.uk & through online retailers

Price:
Retail £24.28
TSL £12.52

Book title: British Military Chaplaincy and Religion in South Africa 1899-1902

By: Dahlia Harrison

British Military Chaplaincy and Religion in South Africa 1899-1902

by Dahlia Harrison

For more information, editorial opportunities, interview requests or review copies please contact Anne by email tslbooks@outlook.com

<http://tslbooks.uk> @tslpub
facebook.com/TSLpublications