DELLA is desperately ill in hospital. BERT and REEN are sitting at the foot of her bed. We don't see DELLA's face, only her shape in bed. Her grandmother wears a coat and old fashioned hat. She has her handbag on her lap. Her grandfather wears a flat cap and has a cigarette behind his ear.

"DELLA" starts moaning and flailing around. But BERT and REEN look at her quite impassively.

BERT: This is a bit of a drag ain't it, Reen? [sighs]

REEN: Oh Bert. Shut up.

BERT: Well I don't see the point of being here frankly. She's not, you know.

REEN: What?

BERT: Doing anything.

REEN: Don't worry. You'll see.

BERT: I could have watched the football.

REEN: What, twenty-two sods kicking a ball at the Emirates?

BERT: Yeah, well. [looks around the hospital ward and then belches loudly]. Pardon.

REEN: Must you?

BERT: Better up than down.

[DELLA starts to laugh.]

DELLA: [mumbling] Up and down. Up and down. Up and down.

[A DOCTOR and NURSE fly to her side and start examining her.]

NURSE: Did you hear her doctor?

DOCTOR: I'm not deaf, am I?

NURSE: Sorry.

BERT: These friggin' doctors.

REEN: Bert, shut up.

DELLA: [mumbling] Granddad.
